Hanns Sachs Library Newsletter

Dear members and friends of our library,

As the days turn chilly and the leaves change colors, we hope you find warmth in our reading room, open from 9:30am to 9:30pm on Mon-Thu, 9:30am-5:00pm on Fri. We have free internet and several alcoves for your quiet reading and research time.

If you are not affiliated with BPSI, but would like to use our library, borrow books, get assistance with your research, and (new!) subscribe to PEP Web at no additional cost, contact Olga Umansky for more information about our Library and Student Associate Membership options.

New this Fall: the Library Drop-In Hour for our Senior Members who wish to learn online search techniques and get research help. Come to the library on any Thursday from 1:30 to 2:30pm for a demonstration of our online resources, Library Catalog, and the PEP Web search tips. Master your ability to verify quotes and find lost page numbers. Learn to download current articles on your reading devices. Bring your laptops & tablets or take advantage of the library computers!

Don't forget to check out our Recent Work and BPSI Authors blogs and send us the information on your books and papers in progress.

Meet the Author

We have a great line-up of BPSI authors for you to meet in the library this winter and spring!

On Tuesday, Feb 9, 2016 at 7:30pm, Judy Kantrowitz will discuss her new book Myths of Termination: What Patients Can Teach Psychoanalysts About Endings (Routledge, 2015). Psychoanalysis can make a huge difference in the lives of patients, their families and others they encounter. Myths have developed, however, about how psychoanalysis should end - what patients experience and what analysts do. These expectations come primarily from accounts by analysts in the analytic literature which are often perpetuated in an oversimplified form in teaching. Patients' perspectives are rarely presented. In her book, Judy Leopold Kantrowitz seeks to address this omission. Exploring the accounts of 82 former analysands, she illustrates the rich diversity of psychoanalytic endings and ways of maintaining analytic benefits after ending; in presenting patients' experiences Kantrowitz provides correctives for some myths about termination.

On Monday, May 23, 2016 at 7:30pm, Ana-Maria Rizutto will talk about her new book Freud and the Spoken World: Speech as a Key to the Unconscious (Routledge, 2015).

Library Committee is also planning to record video interviews with some BPSI authors for our growing web audience. Stay tuned for more information at bpsi.org.

Made with BPSI Materials

One of the PEP Video Grant project winners is a recently released film Controversial Discussions for the XXIst Century including interviews with Jan Abram, Dana Birkstead-Breen, Catalina Bronstein, Peter Fonagy, Bob Hinshelwood, Isabel Hernandez-Halton, Rosine Perelberg, Ken Robinson, Anne-Marie Sandler, Allan Schore, Mark Solms, Riccardo Steiner and David Tuckett. Producers had contacted BPSI Archives earlier this year for permissions to use still images of Melanie Klein, Anna Freud, Dorothy Burlingham, Ernst Jones, and Edward Glover from our Bibring Photograph Collection. The film examines contemporary understanding of 'unconscious fantasy' by leading Freudian and Kleinian psychoanalytic thinkers. Click here to view on PEP.

The Life and Times of Franz Alexander: From Budapest to California by Ilonka Venier Alexander has just been published by Karnac Books. The author is a psychotherapist, the granddaughter of Dr. Franz Alexander, and a friend of BPSI Archives. Ilonka explored our collections last year to learn about Franz Alexander's short time in Boston in 1931, when he was invited by Ives Hendrick to carry out "Freudian analyses" of BPSI early members. Available in the library, the book features many new letters and photographs, including those from our archives. Read Professor Brett Kahr's interview of Ilonka Venier Alexander on Karnacology.

Recent Requests

Anke Timmermann, historian from Cambridge University, UK, contacted us in search for Hanns Sachs's personal library. Katie Joice from the Birbeck College, UK, wanted to check our audiovisual collections for her research of visual culture of child psychiatry and infant observation in the post-war period. Monica McGoldrick, Director Multicultural Family Institute in NJ, was exploring Norman Satir's possible affiliation with our Institute in the 1940s.

Recent Acquisition

Dr. Jeremy Nahum donated over 180 infant research audio-cassettes of the Boston Change Process Study Group to BPSI Archives this fall. The group was founded in 1995 to explore in depth how knowledge of developmental process could creatively inform psychoanalytic therapies and understanding of change in treatment. Its members were Nadia Bruschweiler-Stern, MD, Karlen Lyons-Ruth, PhD, Alexander C. Morgan, MD, Jeremy P. Nahum, MD, Bruce Reis, PhD, Louis W. Sander MD, and Daniel N. Stern, MD. Once processed and digitized, this new audio archive will be a great resource for any infant research historians.

Internship Project

Natalie Flammia is updating web descriptions of Sanford Gifford, Oral History Transcript, Oral History Workshop, BPSI Historic Files, and PINE collections. All five collections grew from the 2014 donation of new Gifford's papers. Natalie holds a BA degree in Psychology with a double major in Spanish from the Wake Forest University, NC, and is working toward her Master in Library and Information Sciences degree at Simmons College.
